

NAHT Cymru conference – book now

There are just weeks to go before our annual NAHT Cymru conference and final preparations are well under way.

Building Compassionate Communities is taking place at the Mercure Holland House Hotel, Cardiff, from 17-18 October 2019.

The aims of the conference are to:

- refocus on building and respecting compassionate communities both within and beyond our schools
- help shape future policy work for NAHT Cymru
- provide the opportunity to network with colleagues in order to support one another in developing our leadership impact across Wales.

We want you to be part of this discussion as we work together to help build on the compassionate communities that already exist throughout Wales, so make sure you register today to avoid missing out.

Keynote speakers this year include Ian Gilbert, Independent Thinking; Sinéad McBrearty, Education Support Partnership; Vic Goddard, Educating Essex and Passmores Academy; and James Hilton, head teacher, international writer, author and speaker. Diversity Role Models will also be leading a workshop session.

Make sure you join with colleagues to be inspired and motivated for the school year ahead.

The conference is open to members and non-members, so please feel free to pass this on to other school leaders and encourage them to join us.

We looking forward to seeing you then – for more information and to book a place, see www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/cynhadledd-naht-cymru-annual-conference-2019-tickets-60518858535.
